SHRIVELED LITTLE MOTHERS

Mexico City, June 7.—All the horrors that have gone before in Mexico City since the revolution began are heavenly in comparison with the unprecedented famine that has befallen this cut off from the world capital.

While the revolutionists of the wretched country are roaming up and down the railroad lines, sacking, ravaging and destroying with the ferocity of locusts, Mexico City, severed from the still remaining areas of production as completely as from the ports, is literally and rapidly starving to death.

The scarcity of food supplies was the first necessity, which began to make itself felt keenly in the early days of the second Carranzista regime, has now reached a stage of famine unequalled elsewhere in the world, except possibly in Belgium, and certainly nothing in Belgium can be worse than the suffering and starvation in Mexico City.

Under foot everywhere in the streets of the capital are the most insistent beggars in the world. Since the food situation became acute their number has increased a hundred fold. They infest the central thoroughfares; every doorway is littered with them. In front of the restaurants and clubs they cluster like flies and fairly swarm around the well-dressed patron, importuning him with their pitiful appeals until he scatters his loose cash among them.

The majority of the beggars in the streets of Mexico these days are little mothers so shriveled with hunger that their skins have come to look like cracked leather. Their clothes are rags, nothing more, and they show their breasts unashamedly. Money, food—anything—they clutch for as ravenously as the street dog does a thrown bone. Here they have literally taken the place of the street dogs, for they long since ate them.

Then there are the cripples which the revolution has produced so numerous in every city, town and pueblo in Central as well as Northern Mexico. They, too, crawl about in shreds of clothing, and when you step around or over them they thrust at you loathsome stumps of arms or legs and whine to you to give them centavos.

And in every street in the central part of Mexico City roam wolfish packs of half naked, incredibly filthy children who are forever darting in and out of the throngs, crying for something to eat.

When the starving peons are no longer able to shuffle about the streets, plucking you by the sleeve, entreating you to give them alms, they crawl into the doorways—half a dozen huddled together like dogs—and in the morning the city carts come along and, just as rubbish is collected in an American city, the bodies are picked up and carried away.

Twice recently starving women have swarmed into the Chamber of Deputies, where the delegates to the sovereign convention were exciting themselves into frenzy over phrases for a new constitution, and receiving from the depleted Treasury 50 pesos a day.

Each time soldiers cleared the elegant building of the intruders, and the delegates resumed their open bouffe.

The convention, before it adjourned to spend the rest of the night swirling around the restricted district in stolen automobiles, appropriated a half million pesos for sending a commission to Washington to ask President Wilson to recognize it as a Government, and 50,000 pesos for purchasing cereals.

Out in the hills their "army" is fighting the battle for liberty by holding up food trains, caravans and carts, murdering the occupants and taking the supplies.

From starvation alone since the first week of May the average daily death rate has jumped from scores to hundreds. It is estimated by the Ayuntamiento—the Town Council—that 500 persons are dying every day of hunger. It also is predicted by the Ayuntamiento that within two weeks, unless communication is established with the producing states, the total will reach 7,000 daily.

AMERICAN WOMAN HOLDS MEXICAN BANDITS AT BAY

Nogales, Ariz., June 3.—One American woman barricaded in a ranch house, stood off five Mexican bandits yesterday until help arrived. According to reports which reached the border to-day.

Mrs. I. E. Bowers, wife of a rancher at Noria, Sonora, in the absence of her husband, protected herself and their home until Villa scouts, attracted by firing, drove the bandits away. She was reported to-day as still barricaded in the house. Her husband was at Agua Zanca, twelve miles south of here, where his automobile broke down.

Previous reports were that he was with his wife.

A FRENCH AIR FLOTILLA ATTACKS HEADQUARTERS

Of German 'Crown Prince'—
Bombs and Hail Of Steel
Arrows Fell.

London, June 5.—Swooping from on high in the gray light of early dawn, a French air flotilla, comprising 29 aeroplanes, dropped 178 bombs on the field headquarters of the German Crown Prince.

The air squadron left its base behind the French lines while it was dark, and between 4 and 5 o'clock appeared above the German headquarters. Amid a hail of shell and shrapnel the aviators took turns dropping their supplies of high explosives and, their work ended, flew away unharmed.

The French night communique, received here from Paris, fails to state the location of the Crown Prince's headquarters. Besides bombs the airmen loosed a hail of steel arrows, several thousand being thrown. A number of the bombs, it is stated, reached their mark, but no estimate of the damage done is possible.

Outside of this daring sally there was little activity in the western theater to-day. Violent fighting continues in the German field work known as the "labyrinth," southwest of Neuville-St. Vaast, and the French report further gains in the trenches and cross trenches of this maze. Berlin reports that lively fighting is still going on in the region north of Arras, the struggle for the sugar refinery at Souchez, which already has changed hands several times, being particularly violent. At last reports the French held this position.

Repeated trench attacks in the Souchez-Neuville front, which at times raged hand-to-hand, were repulsed with heavy losses to the attacking forces, Berlin reports. The German War Office also states that the Teuton artillery was forced to destroy the tower of the Church of St. Martin in Ypres, as artillery observation posts had been discovered there.

On the British front around Ypres heavy fighting in which the Germans claim the advantage, has been going on around the village of Hoogle, a point strongly fortified by the British. Only yesterday the British reported the capture of Chateau Hoogle.

JAPAN'S WAR EXPENSES ALREADY ARE $50,000,000

Tokio, June 7.—Minister of Finance Wakatsuki announced at the diet session that the supplemental budget would call for 52,000,000 yen ($26,000,000), which would be used for the creation of two new army divisions, naval construction, and educational, industrial, and harbor works.

The allotment for the navy is 12,000,000 yen ($6,000,000), but no details were given as to the purposes for which it would be used.

The finance minister told the diet the war expenditures up to the present time had been approximately 100,000,000 yen ($50,000,000).

COUNTY UNION OF THE A. S. OF E. HAS MEETING

Formulate Plan To Employ Business Agent—An Interesting Session.

The Ohio County Union of the A. S. of E. was called to meet at the court house at Hartford, May 29th, and was called to order at 1 o'clock p. m. by president S. L. Stevens. Minutes of the last meeting were omitted and after a few remarks by the president the body proceeded to business.

It was moved and carried that the chair appoint a committee to investigate the prospect of getting a car of stock for shipment or sale, about the last of June or the first of July, and Henry M. Pirtle was appointed.

Moved that there be a committee elected to see the Board of Directors of the Tobacco House at Hartford to take an option on rental of the house until December 1st. J. S. Ceell and E. C. Baird were appointed.

The county secretary and treasurer then made his report of the business done since February, 1915, which was as follows: Collections, $148.66; expenditures, $73.03; balance $75.63. Pounds of poultry sold 79,000; pounds of wool sold 2,700.

The following resolution was then presented and adopted:

Resolved, That this body select a committee of three to formulate a plan by which a county business agent may be employed on a per cent basis, said agent to, as soon as practicable, devote his entire time to said work, and that this committee look up material for said agent, who is to state what amount of time he is willing to devote to this work, until on a paying basis, for his entire time, and that this committee report to this body, at a date set at this meeting.

Farm Demonstrator W. W. Browder met with the body and gave some good advice and talks which were highly enjoyed and appreciated, and it was moved and unanimously adopted that he be invited to meet with us at all meetings.

Moved and carried that this body meet June 12th to hear reports of above named committees. Adjourned.

AMERICAN NAVY IS NOT PREPARED, SAYS FISKE

Annapolis, Md., June 7.—Rear Admiral Fiske, who attracted widespread attention by his statements to the House Naval Committee on the lack of adequate naval equipment, and who later retired from the office of aide for operations in the Navy Department, spoke at length on the unpreparedness of the fleet, here at the Naval Academy Alumni dinner. Admiral Fiske spoke of the needs of the navy and the necessity of making laymen realize them.

He said in part: "Reasoning on the assumption that the United States desires that the navy shall be able to guard our coast effectively against the only kind of attack that would be made, the navy must obtain several types of vessels and instruments that we do not now possess (or possess only in insufficient measure); must learn to use them, both as units and as members of one great unit, with a skill at least equal to that which foreign navies already use them; must enlist and efficiently train as large a force of enlisted men, active and reserve, as our probable enemy would send; and must develop a general staff or some similar agency as skillful and experienced as theirs."

Hemp In Jessamine.

Nicholasville, Ky., June 7.—The high price of hemp last year—$10 the 100 pounds—has revived the hemp industry in this county. The hemp acreage this year is 25 per cent. larger than for many years. There is a good stand of hemp. The bulky stalks are of a rich, green color and growing rapidly. The fields of beautiful fragrant hemp give the county the appearance it had in the days before hemp yielded its place to tobacco.

Of course, some skirts are too short, but one that shows below isn't half as bad as one that shows through.

BAD WOUND INFLICTED BY HIS ROYAL SPOUSE

Said To Be Real Cause Of King's Illness—Had Violent Quarrel.

New York, June 5.—The New York Tribune to-morrow will publish the following under a Paris date:

"The illness from which King Constantine of Greece is now suffering, according to a statement made to-day by a diplomatic personage of a neutral power who has the best means of knowing the truth, is due to a tragic episode that took place in April. During a heated discussion between the King and his wife, Queen Sophia, who is a sister of Kaiser William, and who remains passionately devoted to the policy of her Imperial brother and to the cause of Germany, an animated conversation developed into a violent quarrel, during which Queen Sophia, whose outbursts of temper are well known to all about her, seized a sharp-pointed metallic paper knife and plunged it at her husband's side. The blade pierced the pleura and grazed the lower lobe of a lung.

"Queen Sophia instantly expressed the deepest sorrow at the consequences of her impetuosity. The truth was hushed up and the King gallantly attributed pleurisy that set in, to a result of influenza."

An Athens dispatch says that Prof. Eitelberg, of Vienna, to-day performed an operation on King Constantine, removing part of the tenth rib. The King felt some relief after the operation.

The operation indicates that the King is suffering from pleurisy with purulent effusion, which is known as empyema, the treatment for which consists of the removal of one or more ribs and drainage.

MONEY AGREED TO BE ADVANCED TO GROWERS

Lexington, Ky., June 5.—The solution to the problem of financial troubles of the Tobacco Growers' Association, the new organization formed here recently for the increase of the prevalent prices for Burley tobacco, was reached here when in conference with President Frank M. McKee, of the association, D. C. Mills, chairman of the Cleveland Federal Reserve Bank, agreed to an advancement from the bank of seventy-five per cent of a certain valuation of the tobacco of the district to the growers through the new association.

A detailed explanation of the situation here was given to the representative of the reserve bank by President McKee along with a statement of the requirements of the new association. Provision was made for the valuation of the tobacco to be made through the Tobacco Growers' Association, the local banks and perhaps an agreed third party.

It is not even required by the reserve bank, according to the story, that the tobacco be deposited in a bonded warehouse, but that it be safely stored and insured.

New Death Engine.

Amsterdam, June 3.—The Amsterdam Tjld learns that the Krupp Gun Works are engaged in the construction of a new pattern of cannon, designed to hurl big charges of burning material, the projectile constituting a blazing burst of withering flame. The new war terror was recently inspected by the Kaiser and the German staff, and is, therefore, believed to be nearly ready for active employment in the field.

NATION WOULD BE AT WAR, BUT FOR WILSON

Philadelphia, June 3.—"If we had had a jingo in the White House," said former President Taft in an address at commencement of Bryn Mawr College to-day, "this country would now be at war with Germany."

"Instead," Taft said, "our Chief Executive is a man who appreciates his responsibility and realizes that, considering the temper of the people, a turn of his hand would plunge us into an international conflict."

Taft's address, outlining his ideas as to a permanent basis for international peace, was largely the same as the one he delivered in Cleveland May 12, when he urged the establishment of a world's peace league, with a court to settle international differences by arbitration.

A conference will be held in Independence Hall, Philadelphia, June 17 to consider the establishment of such a tribunal. Taft will preside at the meeting.

MASKED MEN LYNCH A NEGRO AT PRINCETON

Princeton, Ky., June 4.—Arthur Bell, a negro, was taken from the county jail here last night by a mob of masked men and taken to the city limits in East Princeton and hanged.

Bell was arrested at Hopkinsville last Saturday and brought to jail here on a charge of having broken into the home of K. R. Cummins, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Representative, and stealing several valuable articles. After being placed in jail here, Mrs. B. Brandon, who lives two miles east of Princeton, came to the jail and identified him as the negro who attempted to assault her last Friday morning.

The mob consisted of about forty men and they went to the jail and demanded that the jailer open the doors and show them Arthur Bell, which he did. Bell gave his home as Clarksville, Tenn.

ASTOR BABY'S EXPENSES $30,000 PER YEAR NOW

Mother Files An Accounting
For Heir of John Jacob Astor.

New York, June 5.—John Jacob Astor, now in his third year, the posthumous child of Col. John Jacob Astor, who perished when the Titanic went down, has been living at the rate of approximately $30,000 a year, according to the accounting filed to-day with the surrogate by his mother, Mrs. Madeline Force Astor, who is his guardian.

The court allowed Mrs. Astor $60,000 for the maintenance of the little boy for three years, or $20,000 a year. In the accounting filed to-day Mrs. Astor asserts that she has spent $23,639 of her own money in addition for his maintenance. Chief items in the accounting are one-third of the taxes of the Astor Fifth-avenue home (the taxes being approximately $30,000 a year), $8,000 for professional service of physicians, lawyers and others, and $5,000 for clothing, supplies and toys. Mrs. Astor asserts that she is informed that the income on the trust fund left by Col. Astor for the child is approximately $140,000 and upon this assumption contends that it was Col. Astor's wish that his son be amply provided for. Of this income, she points out, she has been allowed only $60,000 for three years. The money she has spent from her own funds in addition to the $20,000 was expended from the date of the child's birth to December 31, 1914.

MANY PROTEST AGAINST FRANK'S COMMUTATION

Atlanta, Ga., June 5.—Thousands of Atlanta citizens to-night attended a mass meeting designated as a protest against the possible commutation of the death sentence faced by Leo M. Frank, who was convicted of the murder of Mary Phagan.

The protesters gathered in the capitol grounds. Passionate speeches were made by many, but no disorder resulted.

Handbills were distributed from early to-day until night. The purpose of the meeting, according to the bills, was "defense of trial by jury."

Solicitor General Hugh Dorsey, who prosecuted Frank, was invited to attend, but he declined.

Feeling in Atlanta is pronounced over the Frank case. Strong and unfavorable sentiment prevails because of the fact that people outside of the State have intervened in Frank's behalf.

Frank's application for commutations of sentence is now before the State Prison Commission.

HAWESVILLE'S AWFUL TRAGEDY

One Dead, Other Dying From Wounds—Parent Notifies
the Sheriff.

IT CAME UP OVER LITTLE BOY

Hawesville, Ky., June 6.—Frank Adkins is dead and his brother, Will Adkins, is dying as the result of wounds which they received from a gun in the hands of their father at the Adkins home place, about five miles from here, this afternoon. A. H. Adkins, the father, is being guarded at his home by the Sheriff and will probably be brought here to jail to-morrow.

The trouble is said to have started this afternoon when the brothers went to their father's place to inquire into reports they had heard that Will's son by his first wife, now living with his grandfather, had been mistreated. According to the story told by Mrs. A. H. Adkins, and the child in question, the men had finished their talk and the two sons were leaving when the elder Adkins told them not to come back again when under the influence of liquor.

Will and Frank then returned to the house and the father seized a pistol. He is said to have gone through the house, followed by his sons, and after climbing the yard fence, sought refuge in an orchard behind the house. The sons in the meanwhile are said to have armed themselves with a hoe and a hatchet and it was when they approached with these weapons in their hands that A. H. Adkins fired.

Will Adkins fell first with a bullet through his abdomen, and a moment later Frank was pierced by three shots, two in the chest and one in the hand.

Frank died in a few minutes and a doctor from here operated on Will Adkins in an effort to save his life.

Following the tragedy A. H. Adkins himself notified the Sheriff by phone of what had occurred and then awaited the arrival of the officers.

Frank Adkins leaves a wife and four children. Will Adkins has been married twice, but has no children by his second wife.

BEAVER WAS CAPTURED NEAR WHITESVILLE, KY.

The Owensboro Inquirer of Friday says:

A large brown beaver, a very rare animal in these parts, was captured Thursday morning by Robert Martin, a farmer residing near Whitesville, when he saw it drinking from a ditch near the road and jumped from his buggy, creeping close enough to grab its tail. The animal was not wild and offered little resistance. Mr. Martin had no trouble taking it to the home of his father, Richard White, where it is now held. The beaver, because of its beautiful hide, is worth considerable money. The owner intends to keep it to raise as a pet. It weighs about 40 pounds.

DR. CHERRY RE-ELECTED PRESIDENT BIG SCHOOL

Bowling Green, Ky., June 5.—At a meeting of the Board of Regents of the Western Kentucky State Normal School here Dr. H. H. Cherry, former president of this institution, was unanimously re-elected. Dr. Cherry resigned several months ago to enter the race for the Democratic nomination for Governor, from which he withdrew several weeks ago. Dr. Cherry has been president of this institution since it was established.

CALLS HALT ON MEXICAN LEADERS

President Wilson Warns
Factional Forces.

PRESENT GRAVE CONDITIONS

In Republic Must Cease Or the United States Will Take Action.

HE DRAWS A STRONG PICTURE

Washington, June 4.—In a statement to the American people President Wilson serves notice on the factional leaders of Mexico that unless within "a very short time" they unite to set up a government which the world can recognize, the United States "will be constrained to decide what means should be employed by the United States in order to help Mexico save herself and serve her people."

Signaling a change from the "watchful waiting" policy, which has guided relations with Mexico for more than two years, the President's statement is regarded everywhere in official and diplomatic quarters as notice of a new and vigorous policy to restore peace below the Rio Grande.

Everywhere it is interpreted as a warning that the patience of the United States is exhausted. What steps the President is prepared to take if his warning goes unheeded is not disclosed in the statement. In high official quarters, nevertheless, no doubt exists that he is prepared to proceed.

The statement, which goes to Carranza, Villa, Zapata and Garza, the principal leaders, not as a diplomatic note from the United States, but as a declaration of President Wilson's attitude, expressed in a statement to the American people, is as follows:

"For more than two years revolutionary conditions have existed in Mexico. The purposes of the revolution were to rid Mexico of men who ignored the constitution of the republic and used their power in contempt of the right of its people, and with these purposes the people of the United States instinctively and generously sympathized. But the leaders of the revolution, in the very hour of their success, have disagreed and turned their arms against one another.

"All professing the same objects, they are, nevertheless, unable or unwilling to co-operate. A central authority at Mexico City is no sooner set up than it is undermined and its authority denied by those who were expected to support it.

"Mexico is apparently no nearer a solution of her tragical troubles than she was when the revolution was first kindled. And she has been sweet by civil war as if by fire. Her crops are destroyed, her fields lie unseeded, her work cattle are confiscated for the use of the armed factions, her people flee to the mountains to escape being drawn into unavailing bloodshed, and no man seems to see or lead the way to peace and settled order. There is no proper protection, either for her own citizens or for the citizens of other nations, resident and at work within her territory. Mexico is starving and without a government.

"In these circumstances the people and Government of the United States cannot stand indifferently by and do nothing to serve their neighbor. They want nothing for themselves in Mexico. Least of all do they desire to settle her affairs for her or claim any right to do so. But neither do they wish to see utter ruin come upon her, and they deem it their duty as friends and neighbors to lend any aid they properly can to any instrumentality which promises to be effective in bringing about a settlement which will embody the real objects of the revolution—constitutional government and the rights of the people. Patriotic Mexicans are sick at heart and cry out for peace and for every self-sacrifice that may be necessary to procure it. Their people cry out for food, and will presently hate as much as they fear every man in their country or out of it, who stands between them and their daily bread.

"It is time, therefore, that the Government of the United States should frankly state the policy, which, in these extraordinary circumstances it becomes its duty to adopt. It must presently do what it has not hitherto done or felt at liberty to do—lend its active moral support to some man or group of men, if such may be found, who can rally the suffering people of Mexico to their support in an effort to ignore, if they cannot unite, the warring factions of the country, return to the constitution of the republic, so long in abeyance, and set up a government at Mexico City which the great powers of the world can recognize and deal with, a government with whom the program of the revolution will be a business and not merely a platform.

"I therefore, publicly and very solemnly, call upon the leaders of factions in Mexico to act, to act together, and to act promptly, for the relief and redemption of their prostrate country."

"I feel it to be my duty to tell them that, if they cannot accommodate their differences and unite for this great purpose within a very short time, this Government will be constrained to decide what means should be employed by the United States in order to help Mexico save herself and help her people."

PRICES OF CHEMICALS JUMP AS WAR PROCEEDS

Carbolic acid, used in ammunition manufacture, has advanced over 1,800 per cent. in price since the war started. It has gone from seven cents a pound, the ruling price in July of last year, to $1.35 a pound now. The purchase of the product by outside speculative interests has contributed to the unprecedented rise. All acids that go to make up explosive material are now very scarce. This is particularly true of carbolic and picric acids.

All chemicals used in the making of powder and explosives have had tremendous advances in price. Other products besides those mentioned are toluol, benzol, quicksilver, gun cotton, nitroglycerin, blue vitriol, sodium chlorate and saltpeter. Picric acid, whose advance has been aided by speculative purchase, has risen from 40 cents to $7.80 a pound. Toluol has advanced from $1 to $5 a gallon and benzol from 25 cents to $1.25 a gallon. Quicksilver, which is used in making fulminate of mercury for fuelling caps on shrapnel, has gone from $35 to $75 a flask. Gun cotton has advanced from 50 cents to 75 cents a pound. Blue vitriol, partly because of the advance in the price of copper, has gone from $4.65 to $7 per 100 pounds.

Antiseptics, disinfectants, opiates and surgical necessities have shown large advances in prices as the result of the needs of Europe in the war. Balsam of Peru, used in dressing wounds, has gone from $1.40 to $2.50 a pound. Morphine has gone from $4.70 to $5 an ounce, opium from $6.05 to $7 an ounce, cocaine from $2.60 to $3.50 an ounce and chloroform from 19 cents to 30 a pound.—[New York Sun.]

HOW WARRING NATIONS IDENTIFY THEIR DEAD

Each of the armies in the great war has a regular system which enables it to identify the dead. The Russian soldier wears a numbered badge, the French soldier has an identification card stitched into his tunic, the German soldier a little metal disc bearing his number, the British soldier has an aluminum disc, with identification marks and church affiliation; the Japanese soldier has three discs, all alike, one on the neck, another in his belt, and one in his boot; the Austrian has a gunmetal badge, locket shape, with identification on a tiny parchment leaf within. The Turk is the only soldier who is so lightly valued that he carries no badge, identification evidently being regarded as needless.—[Christian Herald.]

SPLENDID RESOURCES IN MEN

Why United States Could
Soon Put Large Force
In the Field.

PLENTY MONEY AND MATERIAL

It is not safe to infer that because the United States has a small military organization it would be unable to put forces in the field. If the war were to last only a few more months, that aid to the allies would, indeed, be impossible, and quite unnecessary. But presuming the war to last beyond 1915 the United States could, if the authorities wished, arm and train quite a formidable body of men. There need be no misconception as to that.

The Civil War found both North and South unorganized in a military way. Up to October, 1862, when voluntary enlistment practically ceased in the North, 1,332,000 men went into the ranks. The South got 750,000 volunteers. Then the conscription acts came into force and the South obtained 1,100,000 men and the North a total of 1,500,000 from the various States by levy. The grand total obtained by President Lincoln was 2,898,000, including reenlistments, and 2,250,000 without. On both sides there were 2,000,000 recruits who volunteered. The Spanish War, though a minor campaign, affords another instance of how quickly the United States could, on necessity, organize military forces. If Canada, within six weeks of war, could organize and equip 33,000 men for the front, and within seven months have nearly 100,000 more or less ready, what could the United States, with its immense resources of men, material and money, not do in equal time? By the end of the year the United States could, if it wished, have an army of a million in Europe.

When war broke out Lord Kitchener had the task of gathering and equipping and training a civilian army of over 2,000,000. Those troops are now ready for the field, according to authoritative advices, but must await fuller munition organization. If that great feat is possible among the artisans, shop clerks, office workers and other housed-up workers of industrial Britain, how much more easily could a nation of a hundred millions, as fond of out-door life as the Americans, do as much? The man power is possessed by the United States. To transform it into military usefulness is merely a question of organization. A nation with so much energy, capacity and driving power as our neighbors could quickly show results. It may be, of course, that the occasion may not arise, but if it should the United States would be far from helpless, as surface indications seem to show.—[Toronto Mail and Empire.]

Taking Up For Hubby.
Several ladies sat in their club a few evenings ago discussing the virtues of their husbands.

"Mr. Bingleton," said one of them, referring to her life partner, "never drinks and never swears—indeed, he has no bad habits!"
"Does he never smoke?" some one asked.
"Yes. He likes a cigar just after he has eaten a good meal. But I suppose, on an average, he doesn't smoke more than once a month."

Some of her friends laughed, but she didn't seem to understand why.

ATTEMPT TO PUT FORTS OUT OF COMMISSION

Fort Townsend, Wash., June 4.—An attempt to put out of commission the big guns at Fort Worden, and Fort Flagler, guarding the entrance to Puget Sound, was made several days ago, it became known to-day and as a result visitors have been barred from the forts in this district. It is reported that breech blocks of four guns were removed and the loading mechanism damaged.

The discovery followed a report that Fort Worden had been photographed in detail by persons who had surreptitiously entered the grounds. The photographs gave the relative locations of the big guns and the hidden batteries.

Up to the time of these discoveries automobiles with sightseers were permitted to visit the elevation where the batteries are located, but now orders have been issued forbidding any person to visit the batteries without a special permit from the commanding officer and those who receive them must be accompanied by a guard.

OBITUARY.

Elizabeth Fidelia Schroeder, who departed this life on February 7, 1915, was born in the State of Missouri on the 7th day of May, 1859. Her death came very suddenly and was a painful shock to the immediate family and her many friends. Cause of death a complication of diseases. She had been a member of the Methodist church for about 30 years and was always strong in the faith. Before marriage she was Miss Duke, but later was married to Wm. Schroeder. She leaves a husband and three children to mourn her loss—Mrs. Dona Acton, Mrs. Bessie Hurt and Robert Schroeder. She never left any parting words, but her every-day walk was sufficient evidence to know that she had treasures laid up in a better world than this.

Funeral services were held at Mt. Vernon and conducted by Bro. Vanhoy, after which the body was laid to rest in Mt. Vernon graveyard.

Sad, indeed, it was to have the family record broken and give up a mother that was so devoted to her family, but joy to know that she now has a peaceful home in glory, where songs of praise, joy and gladness can be heard for ever and ever more.

There is a certain Ohio Judge whose wit has enlivened many a dull case. On one occasion counsel made in his court this statement on behalf of a plaintiff of somewhat bibulous appearance:

"My client, your honor is a most remarkable man and holds a very responsible position; he is manager of a waterworks."

After a survey of the client his honor replied:

"Yes, he looks like a man who could be trusted with any amount of water."

COULD SCARCELY WALK ABOUT

And For Three Summers Mrs. Vincent Was Unable to Attend to Any of Her Housework.

Pleasant Hill, N. C.—"I suffered for three summers," writes Mrs. Walter Vincent, of this town, "and the third and last time, was my worst."

I had dreadful nervous headaches and prostration, and was scarcely able to walk about. Could not do any of my housework.

I also had dreadful pains in my back and sides and when one of those weak, sinking spells would come on me, I would have to give up and lie down, until it wore off.

I was certainly in a dreadful state of health, when I finally decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I firmly believe I would have died if I hadn't taken it.

After I began taking Cardui, I was greatly helped, and all three bottles relieved me entirely.

MOHAMMED TOOK CONSTANTINOPLE

Four Hundred and Sixty-Two Years Ago.

AFTER BESIEGING IT 53 DAYS

This Famous City Has Been the Scene Of Conflict For Ages.

A COVETED PLACE AT PRESENT

Four hundred and sixty-two years have elapsed since Constantinople fell into the hands of Mohammed II., after a siege of fifty-three days. Mohammed entered the famous seat of early Christian learning on May 29, 1453, and extinguished the last remains of the Eastern Empire. The famous city of sieges, the dominant strategic point of the Old World, is today the objective of two giant expeditions on land and sea.

The big guns of the English and French dreadnoughts, pounding their way against the fortifications erected by centuries of care, can be heard in the headquarters of the Moslems. From the Russian ports in the Black Sea a squadron is pounding the nearer fortifications of the Bosphorus. The centuries of misrule under Turkish dominion are coming to a close, and the taking of Constantinople again by the Christians is almost a surety.

The famous city founded by Constantine the Great on the site of ancient Byzantium, has been the scene of conflict for ages. The earliest city was founded by Byzas, in 667 B. C. It was occupied by the Medes, the Athenians and the Spartans. During succeeding wars it was allied with the Romans. The Romans took the city in the year 73 A. D., but later it rebelled and was retaken after a two years' siege, in the year 196.

In 324 Constantine refounded the city, destroying all the heathen temples, and dedicated it as Constantinople in the year 330. Art, learning and religion flourished at this seat of civilization until the Great Roman Empire crumbled before the invading hosts of barbarians from the north and east and the inroads of the Turks from Asia.

When Mohammed took the city 462 years ago, cannon were still in the experimental stage. Mohammed had a cannon made to the diameter of two and one-half feet, and used stone balls. He had 70,000 men, while the Christian force had been depleted to 9,000. The Turkish fleet consisted of 320 vessels. The Christians were short of gunpowder, and every repulse they inflicted on the Turks brought nearer the day of their own downfall.

Battering rams, cannon and liquid fire were used constantly in the attack upon the half-ruined forts, and at one time the Turks sent forward a wooden turret on rollers which was destroyed. A Christian squadron of only five ships repulsed the Turks in a desperate naval engagement, though Mohammed himself, sitting on his horse on the beach, yelled reproaches to his sailors and even spurred his horse into the sea.

Mohammed conceived the desperate operation of carrying his ships overland from the Bosphorus into the harbor. In one night the Turkish fleet was thus transferred. The Ottoman cannon demolished the Greek forts in forty days, and the final assault began on the morning of May 29. The Emperor Constantine XIII. fought to the last and died like a hero. A pitiless sack of the city began the moment it fell, under the explicit permission and even order of Mohammed himself.

The Crescent was flown from the tall dome of the Church of St. Sophia, supplanting the cross that had stood there for centuries. The atrocities of that day in Constantinople form one of the most revolting pages in all history. Helpless virgins of the church, women and children were chained into slavery and dragged through the streets by their barbarous conquerors.

That Constantinople has remained in possession of the Turks so many years is due to European diplomacy. The jealousies of nations has played the principal part in preserving the Moslem rule over the important city. The Russians advanced to its outer forts in 1875, but England refused to permit Slay aggression against the Sultan.

The alliance between the Turks and the Germans served to break the hands-off edict of the past, and last winter the plans were laid for the taking of Constantinople as the means of breaking Germany and Austria from their Moslem alliance. The preparations of centuries have had their effect in checking the difficult operations, but the resources of the world are behind the present attack.

The scholars of the modern world are watching the progress toward the famous city with the greatest of interest. The buried treasures of centuries are believed to be again available when the city falls. For when the scholars of the early days fled into Eastern Europe and set up our modern civilization, they left behind them storehouses still untouched. The belief that the Turks have not destroyed the ancient libraries lends hope to the opening up of vast treasures of knowledge.

HE GOT $40,000 FOR $50 —A "GRUB-STAKE" STORY

A $50 grub stake given to an aged prospector 11 years ago has returned to A. J. Garner, a young livery stable proprietor of Highland, in the form of a $40,000 estate.

Garner at Jerome, Ariz., received a $50 check from his parents. He met W. H. Haysnyder, a prospector and friend, who told him he was "dead broke." Fifty dollars, he told Garner, would grubstake him for a prospective trip. Garner immediately handed over his check. He had not seen Haysnyder since.

To-day a stranger inquired where he could find "Gus" Garner.

"That's me," said Garner. "Did you ever know W. H. Haysnyder?" asked the stranger, who was H. G. Jamison, a New York attorney.

"He was my best friend," replied Gus.

"That's right," said Jamison. "He's dead and left you his $40,000 estate."

GERMANY TO CONTINUE HER SUBMARINE WARFARE

Says Tageblatt Naval Expert
—Thinks German Note
Very Able Paper.

Berlin, June 2.—Capt. Persius, the naval expert of the Berliner Tageblatt, in an article to-day expresses thorough approval of the tone of Germany's reply to the United States Government concerning Germany's submarine warfare.

The reply, says Capt. Persius, while completely friendly, leaves no doubt of Germany's firm determination to continue her submarine warfare unless Great Britain returns to the principles of the London declaration. He places the American Government on the defensive to answer for "the criminal light-mindedness" which allowed its citizens to sail on a steamer carrying ammunition and exposed to the attack of German submarines.

Capt. Persius says Germany will wait and see what defense the Washington Administration has to offer and how it justifies the port authorities against the charges which are contained, and only thinly veiled, in the communication. The attempt to pass the responsibility onto Germany, the writer says, is now shattered by Germany's firm reply.

The writer approves of the friendly language of the German note, which he says will disappoint the prophets of hostile countries who were hoping for a rupture of German-American relations. He says that every clear-thinking German will be pleased at the Government's moderate language, which offers the possibility of finding a common meeting ground, because too brusque language toward any or all of the neutral countries would scarcely be advisable in an era when Germany's enemies are going to every length to win their favor.

Capt. Persius declared he scarcely dares to hope for a friendly reception of the German note in the United States, but he expresses the belief that in the end the American Government will, as in the case of Great Britain's similar negative reply to an American protest, subject the German answer to much consideration.

In conclusion Capt. Persius says: "Time will pass and the opportunity will be given for cooler consideration of the Lusitania case. The cries of horror over American women and children will die down, and I hope the views of peaceful neutral persons will gain the upper hand."

Therefore, it is necessary to guard against them as much as possible. The Cynthiana Democrat tells about a man who made a wooden leg for a chicken. Wonder how the young lady lost her limb?

It is said that Billy Sunday's sermons are powerful in making people pay their debts. Would that the country newspapers were able to contract for all his time for the benefit of their delinquent subscribers!

Among other troubles of the European war, readers of the newspapers are running across that word Przemysl again. The last we remember the word was pronounced "Zheemeezil."

The policy of the Germans seems to be to sink a ship first and then talk about investigation afterward. This supposition business is getting Germany into worse trouble than the Kaiser probably contemplates. It is a bluffing game that ought to be called—the sooner the better.

It is said that President Wilson is governed to a considerable extent in his official actions upon momentous questions by the sentiments expressed by American newspapers. He could find no truer index of public feeling than editorial opinion, which in nearly every case is a conscientious effort to express the sentiments of the people.

It would seem that there is no good reason why the Government should not aid in road-building, drainage projects, and so forth, the same as in river work. We speak in regard to the rural districts of the country. The Government should appropriate as much for road improvement as it does for rivers and harbors. The need is just as great in the plan of development and progress. There are many cases in which a little aid from Uncle Sam in road building and ditching would do much good and take great burdens off the people.

President Wilson's statement to the American people, which is virtually a declaration of his intention to intervene at an early date in the affairs of Mexico, should and no doubt will meet the hearty endorsement of every patriotic citizen. "Mexico is starving and without a Government," he says, and everybody knows this is true. It also constitutes an all-sufficient reason why we should go over to our neighbor and set her house in order—not in the sense of conquest but in behalf of humanity and good government.

As enforcing the county prohibition law and more in behalf of the rising young generation of boys, the recent probes into illicit liquor selling in and around Hartford have been conducted. Evidence shows that a surprisingly large number of boys are not only learning to drink liquor but are quick to catch on to the manner of procuring it. The blind tiger or bootlegger offers them a fine chance. Our boys should be protected by all means. They should be rescued from the thralldom of self-destruction. They will later in life thank the means that saved them.

The failure to have good roads in Kentucky is not entirely due to the lack of funds. For years past the State has been spending $2,000,000 a year on roads. Now that State Aid has come to help in this good work, it should be gone forward with in the most practicable manner possible. Under the new law the State guarantees State supervision, and this should be adequate, as the work is very important. The number of supervising engineers should be equal to the demands of the work. The money for their employment is available from the State Aid Fund. Without adequate State supervision the work will be much retarded.

The last Democratic State Platform (which holds good yet) contained the following local option plank, found in section 13:

"Temperance is essentially a moral, non-political and social question, and should not be made a partisan issue between political parties. We favor the extension of the present local option law, as applied to the sale of liquors, which has been upheld by our highest court as valid and constitutional, so that the citizens of each and every county in the State may determine for themselves whether spirituous, vinous or malt liquors may be sold therein."

If that doctrine was good then, it's good yet. We believe it is more effective than any State-wide legislation would be. County unit law has proven effective everywhere it has been energetically applied.

"Gabe's Trumpet" is Sounding Loud.

The Louisville Evening Post says: "It is not necessary to wait until the judgment day to hear Gabe's trumpet blow," commented one of the admirers of the Hartford man, "for everybody is praising him in Ohio county, and I hear men from all over Kentucky declare that he is certainly going to be our next Secretary of State."

"Mr. Likens comes before the public with the cordial, nay, enthusiastic endorsement of his native county and town, where he holds many positions of trust, and where every man, woman and child is his friend and admirer. He has been tried and never found lacking in any way. He is a bright, forceful lawyer, a fine speaker, a good business man, an indefatigable worker for his party, and possesses those sterling qualities that endear him to one and all. His race has been a splendid one from the word go. Friends have rallied around him daily, and he has created the most favorable impression wherever he has gone in the interest of his candidacy."

A prominent member of the last House of Representatives said: "Mr. Likens will make an exceptionally fine State official, and I have heard others say the same. It would not be possible to select a better man for the office he seeks, and he is a party worker who deserves the greatest honors that his constituents can tender him."

New Association.

After the regular meeting and election held in Educational Division No. 1, at Barnett's Creek Saturday, June 5th, it was suggested by one of our progressive teachers, that we organize an educational association to be held monthly at Barnett's Creek, which resulted in the following: Mr. Singleton Howard was elected chairman; Marliisa Foster, secretary.

The following committee was elected to arrange a program regularly for same: Singleton Howard, C. B. Shown, Estill Bennett, Marvin Hoover, S. F. Wallace.

It is expected to be a great source of educational interest and all interested are especially invited to attend and encourage the teachers and trustees in this effort.

Judge Birkhead Apprehensive
Lest Third Term Would Not Seek Him.

Judge Birkhead's mouth piece, the Hancock Clarion, says that Judge Birkhead is not seeking the third term but that the third term is seeking the Judge. The Judge was so apprehensive lest the third term would not seek him that he had prepared and caused to be circulated typewritten petitions, asking him to become a candidate for the third term, two years in advance of the time for the election. He was so anxious about the welfare of his party and the people as to see to it that all who could be induced to do so should have an opportunity to request him to continue in their service and incidentally to collect the salary that goes with the office.

There are thirty-five judicial districts in this Commonwealth and covering a period of some forty years the Clarion finds that the Judges in only four of these judicial districts have been elected to office for more than two successive terms. The instances cited furnish no argument in favor of the third term. The people well understand the difference between a Congressional and a Judicial office, and the Clarion's attempt to justify Judge Birkhead's action in declaring for the third term, by this comparison, is only an attempt to "muddy the water," and can never obscure the fact that there is no surer road to party disaster than to create a close corporation of office holders with practical life tenure.

Judge Owen did not promise the people that he would not become a candidate for the third term, neither did he cause petitions to be circulated throughout the district years in advance of the time for the election, requesting him to become a candidate for the third term. Granting that Judge Glenn supported Judge Owen in the race he made for the nomination for this office twelve years ago, this does not prove that he favored the third term nor does it make the principle of the third term right. He may have supported, and doubtless did sup-

(DISTRICT POLITICS.)

Judge J. S. Glenn Suddenly Has
Change Of Heart On "Third Term"

Twelve Years Ago He Favored Judge Owen For Third
Term—No Unusual Thing For Kentuckians
To Elect Judges For Long Terms.

The real joke of the campaign for the nomination for Circuit Judge is the change of heart of Judge Glenn on the question of a third term. He was a very strong advocate of the third term for a judge until recently, when he decided that he would like to be Circuit Judge himself. He could find no reason to give to the people why Judge Birkhead should not be re-elected, so he conceived the idea for the first time that it was radically wrong to give anyone a third term. Twelve years ago Mr. Glenn not only favored Judge Owen for a third term, but he worked in season and out of season for his nomination. He says it is wrong to vote for a man for a third term, and yet he has voted for Ben Johnson for a third, fourth, fifth and even a sixth term, as congressman. But he is not running for Congress.

If the third term in the Judge's office were wrong Judge Birkhead is not guilty, for he is a candidate only or chiefly because the people want him. He did not seek the third term, but the third term sought him. More than 3,000 voters of the district, long before he announced his candidacy, were so well pleased with his conduct of the office that every one in the district petitioned him to become a candidate again. Having served the people to the best of his ability he believed that they wished a continuation of his services, and in response to these petitions, he consented to again become a candidate. Nor is this an offense. The constitution of the United States, the highest civil law in the world, makes the tenure of judges of the port Judge Owen for personal reasons. The Democratic party refused to nominate Judge Owen for the third term.

What does the Hancock Clarion mean when it says, "things have changed since Betsy died?" If the Clarion thinks that one may with impunity attempt to hoodwink the people and treat the pledges and promises made by him in advance of his election as "campaign jokes," and adopt as his slogan, "get there, no matter how," we are confident the Democrats of this district will in a decisive way see to it that they are not made the victims of this practical joker, and will bestow their bounty and favor on someone who will hold inviolate and keep sacred the promises made to the people.

A DEMOCRAT.

BASEBALL.

Rockport, Ky., June 2.—Martwick defeated the Rockport second team here to-day by the score of 8-3. The batteries were: Rockport, Taylor, Sheffield and Turley; Martwick, Nickols and Richmond.

Mervill Taylor, of Rockport, made the star play of the day by going from short to behind first base and catching a high fly.

Any team wanting games with the second team will please call or write W. G. Har, Rockport, Ky.

June 3.—Nelson defeated the Rockport first team in a slugging match here to-day by the score of 12-4. Ineffective pitching and bad fielding was the cause of Rockport losing. The batteries were: Rockport—Blades, Sheffield and Barnard. Nelson—F. Jones and Warnan. Umpire, Jackson.

June 5.—The second team evened up with Martwick to-day by the score of 8-7. The batteries: Rockport—Sheffield, B. McDougall and Turley. Martwick—Nickols, Swain and Richmond. Umpire, Burden. Scorer, N. McDougall.

June 7.—A nine-inning rally won another game for Equality yesterday when they played Rockport at Centertown. This was one of the best games Rockport has had this season.

Many other instances could be given where Circuit Judges have been given more than two terms, and the very good reason is that the judge who has had experience is better qualified to fill this important office and to meet the demands of the people. When they find an efficient officer, who is careful, prudent, saving and qualified to fill the position they do not hesitate to continue his services.

The Democrats of the district are not taking Mr. Glenn's new-born opposition seriously, especially when they recall quite vividly that twelve years ago he voted and worked for a third term candidate for Circuit Judge, but now that he wants office, and a third term candidate is in his way, he is strenuously opposed to a third term for another. Oh, consistency, thou art a jewel. This matter has been a subject of common conversation here for some time, and the earnestness with which Mr. Glenn opposes Judge Birkhead because of this third term feature has become quite amusing and it can be truly said that Mr. Glenn's opposition to a third term indicates that, with him, "things have changed since Betsy died."—[Hawesville

FIFTEEN MEN ARRESTED—PRESENTED IN COURT

Fifteen parties living in the Centertown and Ceralvo communities were arrested last Friday by Deputy Sheriff S. A. Bratcher and arraigned before County Judge Jno. B. Wilson the same day. The writ charges them with wilfully, unlawfully and feloniously confederating and banding themselves together with each other and with other persons, for the purpose and with the intention of intimidating, alarming, disturbing and injuring the person of said affiants and each of them, and this it is alleged they did on the 15th day of May, 1915.

Each executed bond in the sum of $300 and was released. The arrested men, as we are informed, admit that a meeting was held, but say it was for the purpose of devising plans of stopping the illegal sale of liquor in their communities. The meeting, which is said to have been largely attended, was held in a barn near Centertown.

On the other hand, the four men who made the affidavit upon which the writ was issued, claim in the affidavit that recently a meeting was held and it was proposed to administer whippings to certain citizens, including them.

The examining trial of these defendants is set for hearing before Judge Wilson tomorrow, June 10th, and The Herald will give further particulars as gleaned from the trial.

Mr. McChesney Speaks.

Hon. H. V. McChesney, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, spoke at the court house in Hartford yesterday afternoon to a good crowd. He was introduced by Supt. Ozna Shults.

Mr. McChesney pushed State-wide prohibition as the main plank in his platform and his speech was mainly along this line. However, he is a very able and well posted man and he touched upon other parts of State government which are of vital interest to the people. He explained that the people are not voting upon State-wide prohibition this year, but rather whether the question shall be submitted to the people for ratification later, and that the voters will really not decide the matter until two years hence, or 1917.

Mr. McChesney made a good speech, but on account of it occurring just at the time of preparing to go to press, we were unable to get a full report of it.

In the examination for common school diplomas held on the 7th and 8th of May, out of 40 applicants 37 were granted diplomas, making a total of 103 common school graduates for the county this year.

Supt. Shults filed his annual census report with the State Superintendent last week, showing a total of 8,467 pupils, an increase of 59 over last year.

In the examination for certificates Mrs. Mary White, one of the county's oldest and most successful teachers, made 100 per cent. on spelling. This is the first time in years—if ever—that this remarkable grade has been made on spelling. It is a record worthy of congratulation and of which anybody should feel proud.

RESOLUTIONS.

Whereas, A large part of the so-called civilized world is now engaged in the most gigantic struggle ever known to mankind, a conflict that is directly or indirectly affecting the lives and interests of every man, woman and child in the whole world; and

Whereas, Complications are daily arising which are seriously endangering the peaceful relations of our own country, and threaten to bring to our own doors the horrors of modern warfare; and

Whereas, Believing that the united efforts of our great fraternity would have a far-reaching influence in promoting peace and preventing the spread of human strife; therefore be it

Resolved, By Beaver Dam Lodge No. 332, I. O. O. F. of the State of Kentucky, composed of representative men, that we sincerely regret these deplorable conditions, and hereby pledge ourselves to use every means in our power to support, uphold and encourage every honorable effort that is, or may be made, not only to preserve our own neutrality, but to end this bloody carnage. Be it further

Resolved, That we impress upon the members of Congress, the President and his Cabinet, and all others in authority, the necessity of "sitting steady in the boat" and not allowing questionable points of honor, nor the desires of those who seek personal gain only, to influence them in their intercourse with the warring nations. And be it further Resolved, That we publish our position to the world, so that all may know that Friendship, Love and Truth are not mere unmeaning words upon our lips, but the sincere desire of our hearts.

Adopted this 3d day of June, 1915.

Steel Corporation Safe.

The United States District Court for New Jersey reached a unanimous decision refusing the petition of the Federal Government to dissolve the United States Steel Corporation. The court found that the corporation was not a monopoly in restraint of trade; that there was no wrong committed in the acquisition of Tennessee Coal & Iron, and Carnegie was held blameless in his transactions in the stocks and bonds of the corporation. The suit was instituted under the Taft Administration and prosecuted by Judge J. M. Dickinson.

TEUTONS OUTNUMBERED IN SEA-FIGHTING CRAFT

The Line-Up As Shown After Italy Has Entered the Scirmmage.

With Italy's entrance into the war the distribution of the battle fleets of the warring nations, omitting Japan, assumes the following aspect in the four most important sea areas, reckoned in battleship and armored cruiser units and taking into full account those units which have been lost:

Mediterranean and Adriatic—	Battle-Armored ships.	Cruisers
Italy.....	12	14
Great Britain.....	10	15
France.....	20	10
Austria-Hungary.....	15	3
North Sea—
Great Britain.....	58	29
France.....	8	9
Germany (also for Baltic).....	41	4
Baltic Sea—
Germany (also for North).....	41	4
Russia.....	4	6
Black Sea—
Turkey.....	6	0

It will thus be seen that in the Mediterranean, Austria-Hungary, with a total of only 43 battle ships (predreadnoughts, dreadnoughts and super-dreadnoughts) and armored cruiser units, faces the allies with a total of 81.

In the North Sea, Germany, with a total of 45, is facing Great Britain and France with a total of 104. In the Baltic, where Germany's theoretical force is the same as it is in the North Sea, owing to the Kiel Canal, she may operate her full number of units against Russia's 10, while in the Black Sea the strength of Russia and Turkey is about even. Although the latter has the advantage of the German battle cruiser Goeben and the protected cruiser Breslau, she is otherwise handicapped by obsolete or re-fitted craft.

THE RUSSIAN CALENDAR IS DIFFERENT FROM OURS

There is a difference of 13 days between the calendar used in Russia and that of the United States. For instance, Pentecost fell on May 10 in Russia, but it occurs on May 23 in the United States.

Russia and the Greek church still use the Julian calendar, established by Julius Caesar in B. C. 45. The rest of the world uses the Gregorian calendar, introduced by Pope Gregory XIII. in 1582, with a view of keeping the equinox to the same day of the month of each year. It consists of 365 days, but every year exactly divisible by four and the centennial years which are exactly divisible by 400 contain 366 days. The Gregorian calendar was introduced into England and her colonies in 1752, at which time the equinox had retrograded 11 days since the Council of Nice, A. D. 325. In making the change September 3, 1752, was called September 14. The difference between the Julian and Gregorian calendars has now increased to 13 days.

TOLL OF THE AUTO.

Illinois led the United States in automobile fatalities in May, just ended, with 35.

New York State was second, with 30; Pennsylvania was third, with 13; Massachusetts was fourth, with 11; Texas was fifth, with 10.

The total of killed in all States was 120.

Two hundred and fifty persons were seriously injured.

Statistics show that 90 per cent. of the fatalities followed accidents due to excessive speed.

Twenty fatalities were the result of crashes for which intoxicated drivers are blamed.

At Baltimore, Md., Wednesday, James Walsh, a prominent clubman and connected with well known Maryland families, was sentenced to serve two years in State prison for manslaughter. He was driving an automobile which struck and killed Mrs. Anna Seymour. Walsh admitted to the Court that he had been drinking intoxicants. It was charged that he failed to render assistance to his victim; that he drove away at great speed. Now he is in the penitentiary.

Eighteen persons were killed when chauffeurs tried the unbeatable game of disputing the right of way with locomotives at crossings.

ITALY'S COMMERCE AND HOW WAR MAY AFFECT IT

It remains to be seen how seriously the foreign trade of Italy will be disturbed by the war. The total exports from Italy in 1913, the latest available date of returns, were nearly $500,000,000, imports during the same period being over $700,000,000. Before the war Italy's imports were larger with Germany than with any other nation. Italy also had a large commerce with Austria-Hungary. Great Britain and the United States ranked, however, next to Germany in imports. Italy's largest articles of imports in 1913 were wheat, $80,000,000, nearly an equal amount in coal and over $60,000,000 in cotton, with about $25,000,000 in holds. Italy's principal exports were raw silk nearly $80,000,000, cotton manufactures about $40,000,000, dried fruits over $25,000,000 and silk manufactures about $20,000,000.

Italy also has a mercantile marine of considerable and rapidly increasing importance, the total tonnage, sail and steam, reported at the end of 1912 being 1,107,000 tons; since when there have been important additions. The last reported total clearances at Italian ports were over $56,000,000 tons annually. Outside of Germany and Austria-Hungary, Italy's foreign commerce will be less liable to derangement than some of the other belligerents; her enemies having less power for injuring at sea than Italy herself. The Real "Good Fellow."

The real "good fellow" is the fellow who knows something good about everybody and tells it. He never knocks on his neighbor or digs up the past. He always lends a helping hand to the fellow who is up against it and gives him a chance to make good. He never forgets to do and say the little things that make his wife happy. His children find him a jolly dunc and an every-ready playmate. His home is a haven of love, happiness and contentment. The real "good fellow" is the world's greatest asset. THE POPE GRIEVES MUCH OVER THE FATE OF ITALY

In War—His Voice In Behalf
Of Peace Goes Unheeded, He Says.

Rome, June 3, via Paris June 2.

"The hour which we are traversing is painful, but our prayers will go out more frequently and more fervently than ever to those who have in their hands the fate of nations," is a declaration made by Pope Benedict in a letter to Cardinal Vanutelli, published in the Osservatore Romano, the Vatican organ. The Pontiff recalls his first encyclical in which he urged the belligerent nations to make peace, but points out that his voice was unheeded and the war continued until "the terrible conflagration has extended to our beloved Italy."

The pontiff says he wanted to hold a consistory early in June to discuss with the Sacred College matters of importance concerning the government of the church, but unfortunately the distressing events made this impossible.

"While our heart bleeds at the sight of so much misery," the Pope writes, "we have not neglected to continue our work for relief and the diminution of the deplorable consequences of war."

The Holy Father then recalls his efforts for the exchange of wounded prisoners unable to fight again. The needs of the soul, he writes, especially attracted his fatherly attention, and exceptional facilities consequently afforded all chaplains called under the colors or attached to the Italian army in any capacity.

Continuing, the Pope writes: "I wish that the echo of our voice might reach to all our children affected by the great scourge of war, and persuade all of them of our participation in their troubles and sorrows. There is little of the grief of the child that is not reflected in the soul of the father."

COST OF HIGH LIVING.

Eighty-eight million gallons of whiskey were made in the United States last year. Who drank it all? Fifteen billion cigarettes were manufactured in the United States last year. Who smoked them all? Thirty-two million pounds of snuff were manufactured in the United States last year. Who did all the sneezing?

Two hundred and twenty million pounds of smoking tobacco were made in the United States last year. Who had all the pipe dreams?

Eight and a half billion cigars were made in the United States last year. Who made all the smoke?

Half a billion packages of chewing gum were manufactured last year in the United States. Who worked their jaws?

Twenty thousand moving picture theaters paid $25,000,000 for films last year and 11,000,000 persons saw the moving pictures. Where did they get all the dimes and nickels?

Ten billion copies of newspapers were printed in this country last year. Who took time to read them? One hundred and seventy thousand clergymen preached in 220,000 churches last year, and the congregations, of all denominations, numbered 40,000,000. Who went to church?

It is interesting to know what is going on in this country—the things that people are doing and who are doing them—and why. [Leslie's.]

THE GROWTH OF PLANTS NOT AFFECTED BY MOON

One by one the theories of the past are wiped out by the stern hand of science and scientific investigation. A letter from the Department of Agriculture says:

"Scientists are now convinced that the moon has no more influence on crops than it has upon the temperature or the amount of rain or the winds, or any other weather element. The growth of plants depends upon the amount of food in the soil and in the air that is available for them and upon temperature, cultivation, light and moisture. The moon obviously does not affect the character of the soil in any way, neither does it affect the composition of the atmosphere. The only remaining way in which it could influence plant growth, therefore, is by its light. Recent experiments, however, show that full daylight is about 600,000 times brighter than full moonlight, yet when a plant gets 1/1000th part of normal daylight it thrives little better than in absolute darkness. If 1/1000th part of normal daylight is thus too little to stimulate a plant, it seems quite certain that a 600,000th part cannot have any effect at all. It is therefore a mere waste of time to think about the moon in connection with the planting of crops. The moon, say the scientists, has nothing more to do with this than it has to do with the building of fences, the time for killing hogs, or any other of the innumerable things over which it was once supposed to exert a strong influence."

ODD BITS OF NEWS.

Gulfport, Miss.—John Keating, of this place, died the other day and his obituary was prepared. A barber was called in to shave the corpse. As the razor passed over the man's cheek his eyes opened, his lips parted and he said "Don't cut me, kid." The barber dived through the window and is somewhere in Oklahoma by this time. Keating is alive and well.

Dublin, Tex.—W. H. Stewart, formerly a brakenian, in a nightmare, dreamed that he was on a freight train and that, going under a bridge, a beam struck him on the head, fracturing his skull. The next morning it was found that his hair had changed from a jet black to a fiery red. Physicians say that it will be white in a few months.

Grinnell, Ia.—W. C. Robinson, an amateur aviator, was tuning up his monoplane in a field near Dr. Somers' office when the doctor received a telephone call to attend a man terribly injured in a runaway 11 miles southeast of town. Robinson volunteered to take the doctor to the scene in his monoplane. Somers accepted and the 11 miles were covered in six minutes, or at the rate of 110 miles an hour.

New York, N. Y.—It is not generally known that Iceland is one of the few countries in which there is nation-wide prohibition. And from Iceland comes a story similar to those always heard from dry territory. Mr. Gler Thorsteinsson, of Reykjavik, now at the Astor Hotel, here, says that the population is using alcohol, which they manufacture themselves, in home-made distilleries. There is no way to stop this.

Trenton, N. J.—Chas. Katzev lost the use of his voice as the result of an accident several years ago. Last week a fellow patient in a hospital told a funny story. Katzev laughed long and loud. That night in a dream he repeated part of the story aloud. Next morning it was found that his power of speech was restored.

Edwardsville, Ill.—Something strange has happened to a poplar tree on the premises of Town Clerk Peter Dresch. The tree gives forth a strange, powerful and sweet perfume. No one has been able to explain the phenomenon.

Kokomo, Ind.—Run down and dragged by a taxicab, Jane Gardner, aged 2, was found unhurt and cooing when her father crawled under the taxi to rescue the babe.

Canfield, Ore.—Mrs. John Moore, of this place, has a ton of children. Mrs. Laird weighs only 135 pounds, but her heaviest son, 20, weighs 295 pounds. Three others weigh 245 pounds each. There are 10 children and their combined weight is 2,085 pounds.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
